

Brandon M. Leverage

November 28, 1982 - July 17, 2023

Brandon M. Leverage, born November 28, 1982, passed away on Monday, July 17th, 2023 at his home in Charlotte, N.C.

Brandon was born in Newtown, Pa. He began elementary school when the family moved to Little Meadows, Pa. Later living in New Tripoli, Pa. Brandon attended Northwestern Lehigh School District from fourth to tenth grade.

Brandon completed his final years of high school in Sneads Ferry, N.C. where he resided with his father for a number of years. Brandon briefly returned to Pennsylvania and lived in the Allentown area before returning back to N.C. where he spent the last three years of his life.

Brandon was a skilled craftsman in the building trade and worked for many years along the North Carolina coast for home builders in Pender and Onslow Counties. He recently became self-employed in a small business of his own and was planning to build his future home in West Virginia.

Although Brandon was never married or had children of his own, he treasured the time he spent with his nieces and nephews and faithfully followed each of the milestones in their lives no matter the distance that separated them.

Brandon had passions for surfing the Carolina beaches and snowboarding the slopes of Pennsylvania; he was gifted with an unique athletic ability and lived his life with an unparalleled intensity in all that he did.

Brandon is survived by his mother, Theresa Leverence of Allentown, Pa, his father, Henry (Hank) Leverence of West Virginia, his brothers Haigen (Jenn) and Kyle (Holly) Leverence, of Allentown, and 5 nieces and nephews: Alleigh, Logan, Isaiah, Jackson, and Ellie Leverence.

Brandon was predeceased by his Grandparents Jere T. (Suzanne Dimmick) Viechnicki and Henry F. (Grace) Leverence.
