“ My mind is racing I cannot believe my friend Charlie is no longer here. Charlie was so sweet so kind so helpful so genuine and funny. I practically grew up with him in the Enderly Park area of Charlotte. He and my brother Sylvester played ball together and hung out at the center and each other's homes. Charlie was a cool guy very fun to hang out with, my mom loved this guy and his brother Baker. I'm reminded of the last time I saw him it was with my mom, after a doctor's appointment. My mom got his attention, and we were able to catch up on old times. Wow how I am so very sad at the loss of my friend. I give my sincere condolences to his family, his beautiful sisters, his brother Baker along with my friend Janie and brother Donnie. Much love his wonderful, sweet parents and his son and loved ones. I will forever hold him dear to my heart while remembering the good times. May you rest in peace honey I miss you love always.

“ Charles Baker was a very good friend of mine. We met in 1976 before entering the 9th grade at Spaugh Jr High in Charlotte, NC. I got to know his family very well, and his mother was as sweet as they come and his family always welcomed me into their home. He was a loyal friend who always cared about others and how they felt. Charlie Baker, as I called him, was also my dance partner back in the day. We won several dance contest around Charlotte and in the local night clubs. He was also the guy who probably challenged me the most to be the best basketball player I could be because his defense was relentless. We we graduated from high school, we kept in touch. He went to Elizabeth City State University, and I went to South Carolina State College, now SCSU. After spending some time in the military, and living in Dallas, Texas, I moved back to Charlotte and we reconnected. Over our adult years, we remained in contact with each other and often held conference calls with other high school classmates. He would always call each other on our birthdays because they were only 4 days apart. His, December 10th, and mine December 14th. He was a pop and locking machine. Often referred to as the "Puppet Master" because of how good he could dance. 🤖👉 Anyone who went to the clubs in Charlotte in the late 70's and early 80's know what I mean. 🎵 We were the "Dynamic Duo." Probably one of the best football players I have ever seen, and could turn flips on a dime. He was a special dude. My friend, my dance partner, Charlie Baker. Love you bro! May God bless the family, and keep you in his care. He is still on the throne!

“ This hurts so bad. Just finding out about the transition of Charles. I met Charles while working as the director at Enderly Park Recreation. He played basketball and loved playing on the mixed volleyball team. He was very respectful and always greeted me with a smile. A great friend a great family man. Going to miss our conversations about life. I thank God our path crossed. May God continue to cover the family through these times of a family loss.
