

Edna Perry

June 13, 2015

To know Miss Edna J. Perry was to love her. Her grace, warm heart, loving spirit, words of wisdoms and acts of kindness impacted the lives of many. She was a very soft-spirited woman that was slow to anger and quick to forgive. She never met a stranger, nor did she hesitate to show God's love to everyone she came in contact with.

Miss Edna wore many hats. She was a mother, wife, sister, aunt, cousin, niece, friend, teacher and a prayer warrior. No matter which hat she wore, she wore each one with pride and she wore them well.

Her laugh was contagious when she laughed it was almost guaranteed that you'd end up laughing with her. Her smile could melt the ice around the coldest heart. She was a five gem and meant so much to all who knew her. More than anything, her faith in God was immeasurable. She knew and loved Him just as He knew and loved her.

Second to her love for God was her love for her family. Nothing in the world mattered more than the well being and fellowship of her family. Over the years she watched with delight as her family continued to grow. She viewed growth as a blessings from God, more to love and more reasons to pray, faithfully, she prayed for them all.

Edna J. Perry was born on July 12, 1954 in Harlem, NY to the late Eli Perry and Daisy Artis. She leaves to celebrate her home going her ex-husband and life partner Garry L. Turlington Sr.; four children Garry A. Turlington, Syreeta C. Turlington, Garry L. Turlington Jr. and Kerrstin E. Turlington; one sister Mary Alice Green (Hannibal Green Sr.) fourteen grandchildren; one great granddaughter, and a host of other relatives and friends.
