

Kimberly Joy Youance

June 11, 1978 - January 9, 2024

Kimberly Joy Youance was born on June 11, 1978 to the late William Sr. and Carrie Brown. Kim is survived by her sister, Carinthia Ward; brother William Brown Jr ; two nephews, William Ryan Brown and Maliki Ward. Kim was married to Emmanuel James Youance. Together, they have three sons, Jalen, Jordan, and Emmanuel Youance. Kim is, also, survived by two aunts, an uncle, and a host of cousins and friends. Kim will be remembered for her love for baking. She enjoyed having cooking competitions with her son Jordan (don't ask him who won). She, also, will be remembered by her warm smile and listening ear. Kim is missed by her fur-baby, Jazz. You could often find Kim and Jazz in front of the fireplace with a blanket on each while snacking on her favorite gingersnaps. Kim had a heart for helping people. She obtained her Bachelors in Human Services from Wingate University all while working for Charlotte Mecklenburg Department of Social Services (DSS). She continued her quest for helping people by joining Self-Help Credit Union until her departure. Three things we can take from Kim's time with us are perseverance, love, and faith. Kim was 24 when she was diagnosed with Lupus. Her life's goal became to see her boys into adulthood. She did everything she needed to do to maintain her health. Kim LOVED ALL!! She truly looked to help everyone by showing them love, even if she didn't agree with the things they would do. Kim had unwavering faith. She understood healing may not be her portion, but she also knew God would give her her heart's desire.
