“ This is so hard for me right now. we miss you so much and I never knew that you would leave me so early. I didn't see it coming. I remember wanting to know who you were even though you were my only blood uncle. I've never got all the details so as a child I always wondered about you I wanted to know everything about you. I might not never understand why you were taking so early but I do know you were going to make a great Angel. love u!
