

Tania Coshinda Gill-Worsley

January 24, 1966 - November 11, 2015

Tania Coshinda Gill-Worsley was born January 24th 1966 in Gaffney, South Carolina to the late Donald Rodgers and the late Linda Gill. She entered into eternal rest and transitioned into her eternal home on November 11th 2015 at approximately 1:15 am at Hunter Woods Nursing Home.

“Tikki” as she was affectionately called, attended Cochrane Middle School and Central Cabarrus High School. She completed two years of college at South Carolina State University and 1 year at the University of North Carolina at Charlotte. She enjoyed swimming and spending time at the beach. In her free time, she read many books and could memorize every word. Tania was great at reflective writing she had the desire to write what she was feeling. She was best known for her unique cooking style, including French toast and omelets at 2 am in the morning.

Before her battle with cancer, she was employed at Chrysler Financial Services and as a security officer at Allied Security. She had a very infectious personality with the ability to make friends with anyone. Always jovial and making jokes, she put smiles on many faces. Tania enjoyed having fun with her children whom were the joy of her life.

Tania’s memories will be cherished for many years to come by her children; Takobian Worsley, Torien Worsley, Taylor Gill, and Titus Gill; her brothers; Taras Tillman (Wanda), Billie K. Rodgers (Tamika), Donald Marcus Rodgers, and Brian Rodger, her loving and devoted grandmother; Modean Marshall, three aunts, three uncles and a host of family and friends.

“ Tania and I worked together at Chrysler Financial. Instantly we became friends. I will always remember her smile and how crazy she used to act. This was truly shocking to me. I had been trying to find Tania for years now. I went on Facebook today and came across her obituary. This is still so hard to believe. Rest in Peace my dear friend
