“ Vanessa and I were classmates from the second grade until we graduated. We friends that hung out together when we're teenagers we would lie in the bed and talk about what we would do once we got married. How many kids we would have. I remembered when she met Michael Crowe in the twelfth grade. She was the first of us to get married and have kids. My birthday was the 8th of February and hers was the 13th. We use to call each other on our birthdays. As we got older we went different ways but I always held her it heart as my friend. Her personality will be missed. Vanessa loved to have to and laugh. I will miss her but God knew Sharon was waiting. Rest in peace my friend, love ya!!
